

Wave Genetics Research Targeted by Russian Academy

NOTES:

Robert Neil Boyd, Peter Gariaev

Robert Neil Boyd, PhD. [] Physicist and author, with a background in plasma physics and electro-optics. Since 1998 he has been involved in a number of projects. For example, in 1999 he was invited to join Project Greenglow, sponsored by BP Aerospace, U.K., a group of researchers tasked with exploring antigravity and force field propulsion techniques. In 2004 he was invited to join Peter Gariaev's (Garjajev)research staff, in which he is presently active.

“Wave Genetics has shown that genetic traits can be changed, activated and deactivated by use of resonant waves, beamed at the DNA. The proponents of Wave Genetics have, through well-designed and implemented double-blind experiments, physically and clinically, repeatedly proven the ability of Wave Genetics technology to regrow vital internal organs, in vivo, without the requirement of difficult, dangerous and expensive surgical procedures. Applications of Wave Genetics technologies have uncovered the entire range of functionality of the DNA (including the functions of so-called "junk DNA") and the entire Genome.

Wave Genetics makes the entirety of the DNA system available and directly controllable, for the direct benefit of all life, without the need for dangerous and antiquated "recombinant DNA" methods, and without the need for any "stem cell" culturing techniques.

“Wave Genetics has been researched principally in Russia, by a group of scientists around Dr. Peter Gariaev, the discoverer of the DNA phantom effect. That research has recently come to an abrupt halt, as a result of heavy handed intervention by some high level "skeptics" in the Russian Academy of Sciences. Skeptics are the watchdogs of orthodoxy. Those operating in the field of medicine call themselves quackbusters, but every scientific endeavor has their dedicated 'skeptics' who watch that no new paradigms should evolve and who attack anyone coming even close to changing the status quo in science.

“Perhaps it is no accident that the work of Gariaev and his team has come under attack, since Wave Genetics promises to make today's genetic engineering look like the Wright brothers' first flight, compared with a modern airliner. With huge sums of money invested by the likes of Monsanto and Genentech in today's comparatively very 'old hat' recombinant genetic modification technologies, it is no wonder that those developing the successor technology are being viciously attacked. “

Robert Neil Boyd has been in contact with Gariaev and has written a short piece exposing this ongoing suppression of scientific research:

The Mistaken Suppression of the Next Generation of Medical Practices ("Wave Genetics") by the Russian Academy of Science

“A group internal to the Russian Academy of Science, called the ‘Group to Combat Pseudoscience in Russia’ often goes well beyond the bounds of highly regarded bedrock scientific research principles, such as Popp’s Criteria, particularly regarding recent empirical and powerful experimental results in genetics research. This group has long been known for attacking and suppressing any theoretical results which fall outside of the boundaries of what is deemed to be ‘officially acceptable’.

“Acceptable according to whom? Exxon? The Bilderberg group? Donald Duck?

“Or is it that whoever pays the leader of this "combating pseudoscience" group, Krugliakov, the most money, gets whatever ruling they want, from out of the group??

“It is clear that Krugliakov has acted to revive a former soviet policy regarding Russian science called ‘Neolysenkoism’, a policy which suppresses and attacks all ‘unacceptable’ scientific results and theories, and attacks all ‘dissenting’ scientific results and theories. “

An Open Letter from Dr. Peter Gariaev, the Father of "Wave-genetics"

Date: 10/30/2005

“Frustratingly, even with such documented successes, the mainstream scientific establishment is such that I have found it difficult to maintain funding for my work in my home country of Russia. If you or someone you know are interested in assisting me, I am willing to relocate if necessary to continue my research and would love to establish a dialogue regarding such a possibility.”
